

How family meals support Utah youth

The following information is made possible by the 2025 Utah SHARP survey. The Utah Student Health and Risk Prevention (SHARP) survey is the most comprehensive source of information on the challenges and opportunities our youth face.

In Utah:

60%

of students eat with family 5+ times a week

85.8%

of students say they can talk to parents about personal problems.

TOP TIP

Just one meal a day makes a difference.

Start small—connection grows from consistency. Start with a few meals a week that work for everyone's schedule.

Kids who have regular family meals

Often make healthier food choices.

Tend to feel closer to their families.

Show signs of stronger vocabulary development.

Less likely to use substances like alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs.

More likely to get better grades.

Utah teens who eat at least one meal a week with their family are 32% less likely to feel depressed.

49% less likely to vape.

34% less likely to consider suicide.

Learn more about SHARP:

sharp.utah.gov

Utah Department of Health & Human Services

Every moment matters, and family meals are just one way to connect. You can also:

Take a family walk after dinner.

Try a family game night once a week. Take turns picking the game and put phones away.

Run errands together and ask about their life.

Make time daily to check in—ask about their day, share yours, and let them open up.

Take advantage of car rides—it's a great time to talk, ask questions, or just connect without distractions.

Local adventures – Visit a museum, concert, botanical garden, or cultural event.

Conversation starters:

If you could change one thing about your life, what would it be?

What makes you happy?

What do you think is the most important quality a person can have?

What is something that you worry about?

What do you wish I would help you with more as a parent?

What is something about you I might not know?

TOP TIP

The goal:

Have at least one family meal together every week—distraction and screen-free!

